1. Saucepans are made from three-ply stainless steel and they are suitable for all hob types including induction, and they carry a lifetime guarantee against manufacturing defects.

2. Skillets share the same construction but have a lower profile, which makes them better suited to searing and to reducing sauces quickly over a high heat.

3. Handles stay cool on the hob and are secured with a riveted fixing that can be tightened with a standard screwdriver.

The manufacturer states: "(1) the warranty covers manufacturing defects only; (2) it excludes damage from misuse; and (3) it requires proof of purchase."
